Purchasing equipment this year is a significant savings through the benefit of the Economic Stimulus Act (ESA).

Companies that buy new equipment in 2008 can depreciate 50% of the cost in the first year plus the percentage of the remaining basis in the equipment that would ordinarily be depreciable under the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System.

Now is the time take advantage of the ESA and purchase the security equipment you have been putting off. The depreciation advantage can be used if you buy or lease to own!

By purchasing your system now, it gives your company a financial advantage and a secured environment. Remember, this is only for equipment purchased in the year 2008 so don't wait.
